2010 CEO Retiree Briefing
Review by Fred Payne
Cathie Lesjak, HP’s CFO and a 24-year veteran, has been serving as the interim HP CEO. She led the CEO retiree web cast with about 50 viewing from the Fort Collins HP plant. Ms Lesjak gave an upbeat picture of the future with comments on how investments in HP LAB structure has lead to increased efficiency and ability to roll out new products faster. She pointed out the new printer commercial now seen on TV and on the internet. Keep an eye out for it as it is very cute. The baby travels from a farming area to the city passing trucks, cars, steps, and doors to come out on a private internet connected HP printer photo.

The new “Slate” product will have applications comparable to a majority of the significant IPAD applications and she feels it will be a viable product. The new “Envy” laptop has better sound than the “fruit company” competition. The short time to get this to market is attributed to the improvements in the LAB structure as well as purchases made recently by HP. Products of the future, she says, will not have operating systems (OS) as we know them. The OS for various products will be more modular and fit for the product.

NEW HP CEO

From: ROBERT RYAN
Lead Independent Director of the HP Board

TO/ All HP Retirees

I am delighted to let you know that the Board of Directors today elected Léo Apotheker, the former CEO of SAP, as HP’s Chief Executive Officer and President. Léo also will join our Board of Directors. The Board also elected Ray Lane, Managing Partner at Kleiner Perkins Caufield & Byers, as a new member of the Board and designated him as non-executive Chairman.

Since the Board began its search, we have been focused on finding the best candidate to lead HP forward. We were looking for a strategic thinker with a passion for technology. We wanted someone with wide-reaching global experience and proven operational discipline. And, most importantly, we wanted a leader who understands that HP’s most important asset is its employees. We found all of these qualities – and more – in Léo.

During his more than two decades in the industry, Léo helped build SAP into the world’s largest business software applications company – and an important partner to HP and other industry leaders. Léo has a strong track record of driving technological innovation, building customer relationships and developing world class teams.

Léo has been a leader in anticipating the transformation taking place in our industry, and we believe he is uniquely positioned to help accelerate HP’s strategy. He has demonstrated success in the U.S. market and also has vast international experience – which will be a major asset as HP continues to expand globally, particularly in high-growth emerging markets.

HP has the right assets and market positions, and now we have the best team to realize the company’s enormous potential with Léo leading the company and our new non-executive Chairman Ray Lane, one of the most widely respected executives in Silicon Valley, leading the Board.

Finally, on behalf of the entire Board and everyone at HP, I would like to thank Cathie for her strong leadership as interim CEO. We are extremely fortunate to have such a capable and talented executive in that important role. Cathie remains an important part of our team as Chief Financial Officer and a member of the Executive Council.

HP has a bright and promising future. And thanks to the hard work of our employees, Léo and the management team have a great foundation on which we all can build. Please join me and the Board in congratulating Léo and Ray on their new roles and in welcoming them to HP.

Best regards,
Bob

Information from the Loveland Reporter Herald and Jill Sweeney, HP Worldwide Retiree Programs.

Karen L. Bailey, 70, wife of HP retiree Orville “JR” Bailey, died at her home October 11, 2010. She is survived by her husband JR; mother, Lila Newlin; daughter April LeAnn Lepore (Anthony); brother Greg Newlin; sisters Jeanine Hannah (Bob); and Judy Hanna (John); and great-grandson LaDarien Zubia. Karen worked at R2-J school district, Gulley's Greenhouse, and Apria Health Care after moving to Loveland in 1971 with her husband and family.
Rosemary Bradford Hewlett, the second wife of HP founder Bill Hewlett, passed away October 29, 2010. Rosemary and Bill loved the outdoors and met on a ski vacation. At the time, they were both widowed and each had five children. They married on May 24, 1978. Rosemary played an active roll in Bill's public life and in the history of HP. She regularly attended company events and was a true partner to Bill in helping create a rich family environment for HP employees. Rosemary was also well known for her philanthropy and efforts to give back to her community, including support of her alma mater, Smith College, where she supported the establishment of the nation's first engineering program at a women's college. Born in 1919, Rosemary leaves a long legacy of contributions and accomplishment. That legacy will live on through her generosity of spirit, the love of her family and friends, and many philanthropic endeavors.

Delbert Dwayne “Del” Lampe, 73, of Loveland, Colo., died on Oct. 13, 2010, at McKee Medical Center in Loveland. He worked as a tool and die maker for Hewlett-Packard in Loveland for 28 years. After retiring from HP in 1991, Del and Nancy enjoyed traveling in their RV and were very active in square dancing. Del is survived by his wife, Nancy Louise Lampe of Loveland; mother, Leona Lampe of Loveland; sons, Derek Lampe and wife Priscilla of Castle Rock, Colo., and Kenyon Lampe of Colorado Springs; stepsons, Randy Grove and wife Sharon, and Rob Grove and wife Jenny, all of Loveland; two grandsons; and five step-grandchildren. He is preceded in death by his father, Eric Lampe; his son Damon Lampe; and his brothers, Rodney and Stanley Lampe.

CATCHING UP

- Where are you now?

Larry and Barbara Wilson

One stop on the December portion of our trip following last years Christmas Banquet of the HP/Agilent Retired Employee Club of Northern Colorado was to visit one of the originators of our club, Larry Wilson and his wife, Barb. We were grateful they met us in town after receiving short notice of our passing through the area. Larry and Barb moved to Bonham, Texas a few years ago to be closer to their children. The picture below was taken in the local restaurant which made an excellent meeting point.

Larry volunteers with the Texoma RSVP Programs which is part of the Texoma Senior Corps. The program helps people 55+ use their personal interests and skills to work in their communities. Volunteers may continue the type of work they enjoyed earlier in life, or opt to try something new. Participants serve in organizations such as: hospitals, nursing homes, youth centers, police stations, and educational facilities. More information is at www.volunteertexoma.org.

Although Larry and Barb enjoy their place and family in Texas Larry mentioned missing friends in Colorado and has lost the contact information. Because of the privacy policy of our club we were not able to give Larry our membership list but did get his permission to add his contact information in this article so old friends can again contact them. There address is:

500 Private Road #206, Bonham, TX 75418 or lw0686@aol.com.
